No one achieves success alone. We all had others help us get there. These strategies and partners support us, help us see our blind spots and be there when we truly need it. This interactive topic will incorporate aligning with strategic partners to live the best version of your life and it will assist you in having crucial conversations and handling conflict to maintain these important relationships. Build relationships that matter. Relationships of trust, healthy conflict and results. Participants will identify strategic partners, learn key strategies to build these relationships and tips to handle conflict like a pro!
